Accelerating green-tech startups to inspire breakthroughs via seed funding or in-kind technology

Questions and Answers

What kind of companies are we looking for?

We focus on green-tech startup and entrepreneurs that meet our criteria:

- 1) Planet proven positive impact - we primarily focus on renewable energy generation and storage, green hydrogen, carbon capture, circular economy, plastic waste, desalination, plant-based food, ecological monitoring and sustainable agriculture. However other segments would be considered too.
- 2) Business proven - with product market fit beyond MVP, a customer base and be in a pre-IPO funding stage
- 3) Technology match - with potential to be accelerated with Hexagon or other R-evolution's partners' solutions.

What does a partnership look like?

The engagement will be a monetary or in-kind technology investment. In addition, it could include mentorship from an Hexagon subject matter experts and a potential technology collaboration.

What is a typical investment?

The investment could be either monetary, typically in the range of 50,000 to 500,000 €, and/or in-kind technology.

How do we team up with you?

The easiest approach is to send an email to ventures@r-evolution.com including the startup details and pitch deck. If the criteria are met, we will contact you and start a series of deep dive sessions to get a better understanding on the company and exploring synergies beyond the investment.

The final step would be a more detailed analysis that would end with the investment decision.
